

Hirnyak S.P. Linguistic features of Konstantyna Malytska's memories

This article characterizes linguistic features of texts of K. Malytska's memories. The analysis enables to reveal the features of the use of the Ukrainian language of Galician intellectuals at the turn of the XIX – XX centuries, and also to highlight the social aspects of functioning of Ukrainian language in Eastern Galicia in the specified period of time and to point to the lexical and semantic peculiarities of regional functioning of Ukrainian language on Western Ukrainian land.

Key words: language, language features, Galician intellectuals, Konstantyna Malytska, Eastern Galicia.

Kotovych V.V. Chronicles oykonims Galician and Galicia-Volyn principality: the formation of the possessives -iv, -yn

In the article analyzes the possessive suffix oykonimy -iv, -yn, located in the former Galician and Galicia-Volhynia and certified in the Laurentian and Ipatiev chronicles. Considered attempts to identify the former settlement of modern Galician localities found oykonimiv origin and anthroponyms-etymon.

Key words: Galician principality, Galicia-Volhynia principality, oykonim, anthroponim, toponimotvirna model, possessive suffixes formation of -iv, -yn.

Kovtsuniak M.M. Features chamber phraseology in the communicative aspect

The article scrutinizes the research on the problem of chamber phraseology. It consists in using phrases and expressions taken from films, cartoons, literature. Examples of chamberisms, their detailed explanations and the sphere of usage are provided in the article.

Key words: phraseological unit, chamber phraseology, film, animated film, belles-lettres.

Kravchenko-Dzondza O.E. Stylistic analysis of the text in the context of communicative linguistics

The article deals with the problem of stylistic analysis of literary text (based on West-Ukrainian prose 20-30s of XX century). The characteristics of the main methods of communication linguistics. Defined innovations in the field of artistic speech writers are inherent in the early twentieth century.

Key words: communicative linguistics, linhvopoetyka, idiostyle, linguistic creativity, metaphor, dialectisms, folklorizm.

Lutsiv S.I. Structural-semantic characteristics of prepositions of adverbial origin (The novel R.Ivanychuka "Malva")

This article explores the structural and semantic characteristics of prepositions of adverbial origin based on the novel R. Ivanchuk «Malva»; it finds out that in modern Ukrainian literary language the formal construction of prepositions is rather motley, due to their constant replenishment; it states that the number of prepositions increases due to secondary adverbs (more), nouns (to a lesser extent) and verbs (few examples) formations and evidence of this is the prepositions system of tested art canvas.

Key words: word-building paradigm, preposition, adverb, semantics, lexical meaning, transitional words, structural and semantic type.

Matskiv P.V. The names of the sacred action in the biblical text

Names of sacred actions have been analysed in the article on the basis of frame modelling, singling out the action frame of the concept of GOD; axiological, lingvopragmatic and cultural semantics of the linguistic sign (sub concept, constituent) have been clarified.

Key words: lingvocognitive modelling, frame, methodology, internal relations.

The article analyzes the figurative aspect of the concept earth that best reflects in poetic language. Shaped signs in the ancient concept convey an understanding of the phenomenon earth and features include inanimate (element, food, object) and living (fitomorphic, animalistic, anthropomorphic) nature.

Keywords: concept, structure concept, conceptual sign, shaped signs, cognitive metaphor.

Ohar A.O. Figurative aspects of the concept of land (Based on Ukrainian poetry)

The article analyzes the figurative aspect of the concept earth that best reflects in poetic language. Shaped signs in the ancient concept convey an understanding of the phenomenon earth and features include inanimate (element, food, object) and living (fitomorphic, animalistic, anthropomorphic) nature.

Keywords: concept, structure concept, conceptual sign, shaped signs, cognitive metaphor.

Paten I.M. The pragmatic aspect mentioned idioms with the semantics of movement (within the Ukrainian, Russian, Polish and English)

The article analyzes the phraseological units with semantics of movement regard to their pragmatic willingness; pay attention to the emotional component of figurative expressions depending on ilokutyve communicative purpose and functions of the recipient.

Keywords: semantic meaning, pragmatic meaning, sem, phraseological units, estimation, thematic field.

Skvarok O.A. On the derivational derivational capabilities and intentions generators words (based on locative nouns)

The meaning of derivational intention of a creative word as one of its main features is studied in the article. Place and functions of the derivational intentions are defined in the structure of word building process.

Key words: derivative potential of a formative word, derivative intensions, derivative word, structure of a word-formation process, relation of motivation, word- formation semantics.

Fedukko M. Ju. The phenomenon of language-words Shevchenko's space

The article deals with the features of tokens “language”, “word” in Taras Shevchenko’s texts. It is shown that out of units of synonymic range “language – a word, verb, tongue, psalm” the most active component is characterized by “word”; its connotative glory is consistently positive, while others may have negative emotional and evaluation coloration. It states that frequent appeals to components of mentioned synonymic range convince Shevchenko’s awareness ethnic guardial, spiritual, national and state-building energy of native language.

Key words: national language, Ukrainian identity, Ukrainian language, synonymic range, components of synonymic series.

Fedurko O.A. Ajective adverbs in semantic and syntactic structure of sentences predicates of concrete physical action

The article deals with the functioning of adjectival adverbs as optional components of the sentence. The combinability peculiarities of adjectival adverbs in -o // (-e) with predicates of action are described in the paper. It is established that different functional-semantic types of adverbs are used in the sentences. The most active are adverbs of manner, qualitative and quantitative adverbs.

Key words: semantic-syntactic structure of a sentence, invariant semantic structure, predicate of physical action, adjectival adverb.

Fil G.O. Component-dendronim in the structure of idioms of Ukrainian language as ethnocultural markers language picture of the world

This paper examines a group of Ukrainian idioms with components-dendronyms – ethnic and cultural markers of world's language picture; shows that the apparatus of symbols as structural components of stable combinations is not similar; it states that verbal symbols of idioms reflects the originality of the plant world, that the world of nature, presented in Ukrainian stable compounds, is characterized by versatility as well as by features of national perception.

Key words: phraseological units, stable combinations of words, symbols, characters, components, dendronyms (names of trees), the symbolic foundation, lexical component, ethnic and cultural markers, structural components, symbolic meaning, verbal symbols, world's language picture.

Shtybel Ju. P. The semantic content of linguistic lion character in the biblical text

In the article the functioning of biblical symbols of the leo in the linguistic aspect is investigated; their derivatives in the nominative and figurative meanings that are realized within the nominal and verbal combinations and various syntactical constructions are examined.

Key words: symbol, the Bible, syntactical construction, derivatives, nucleus, periphery.

Kusnetsova K. Educational aspect of folk and modern tales

The article deals with the problem of education through fairy tales in recent years, because the issue of disinterest in reading among students is current. Especially Ukrainian fairy tale loses its position. In research, we focus on the need to make the reading process as interesting and educational as possible. In particular, on the need of making creative tasks for children, that would encourage them to read and think for themselves.

Key words: the aspect of education, (modern) fairy tale, fairy tales about animals, creative tasks for students.

Javorska L. Fantasy in contemporary literature for children

The article is devoted to theoretical, historical and literary study of fantasy as a new genre of modern literature. It characterizes genre features of fantasy and sources that made impact on its becoming. The definition of the term fantasy by foreign and domestic scientists is observed.

Key words: genre, literary genre, fantasy, fairy tale, myth, novel, fantastic, fantasy literature.

Demko Ja. The value of the works of writers native land in literary propedeutics primary school children

The article highlights the problem of literary development of primary school children, opens the essence of the concept of «literary propedeutics» and pays attention on introducing younger students with literary concepts and elements of literary analysis, defined by the new State standard. The article shows the significance of literary local history in formation of students' ability to complete perception of works of art, in the development of aesthetic tastes and reading culture, in providing personal attitude to the native language and literature, art works, born on Father's land. Also it considers the views of individual scientists, trainers, teachers on the literary development of children's personality and formation of students' reading competence of. It emphasizes the important role of creativity and ingenuity of primary school teachers in the implementation of forms and methods that meet the needs of the individual, help to reveal their spiritual and emotional, intellectual, aesthetic abilities, bring to national pride, prepare the active involvement of every individual in social life.

Keywords: literary development, literary propedeutics, subject-reader competence, literary local history, literature and speech skills, reading interests, artistic tastes.

Jatskiv R.B. Pen names of members of national liberation movements - call sign of the Armed Forces of Ukraine: semantic parallels

In the article analyzes the pseudonyms of the national liberation struggle Ukraine 40-50-ies of XX century modern and call sign of the Armed Forces of Ukraine. It was found common features of lexical motivational bases from which they were created.

Key words: pseudonym, callsign, self, onyms, appellative, members of national liberation movements, Armed Forces of Ukraine.

Zymuldinova A., Skalych L. Methodical preparation of teachers to the training and education of children the age of five different schools

This article discovers the problem of educating of five-year-old children, which according to Ukrainian law «On pre-school education» have to study at different educational institutions. Content, forms and methods of teaching and educating of five-year-old children at school, children's institution and by individual education are shown.

Key words: children's institution, five-year-old children, individual education, content, methods, teaching, education, forms.

Luzetska L.B. Non-verbal means of communication as a component of speech culture of the individual

The article deals with some problems of the person's speech culture. Emphasize is paid to the importance of non-verbal means for the process of communication, to the necessity of using these means appropriately for the convincing speech and positive impact for the interlocutor. The essence of the concept "non-verbal means of communication" is revealed, the meaning of these means for speech expressiveness and emotionality is underlined. The opinions of some scientist for mimics, gestures, view, speakers pose and some other components of non-verbal communication are examined. The stress is paid to the necessity for combining the non-verbal communication with verbal ones in a concrete speech situation.

Key words: speech culture, verbal speech, non-verbal means of communication, mimics, gestures, view, pose.

Ohrimenko L. Improving teaching Ukrainian primary school pupils at the new school curriculum in accordance the State standard primary education

The article observes the improving of teaching of Ukrainian language of primary school children for new school program according to State standard of primary general education. The content of Ukrainian language program for first-fourth years pupils is discovered. The advantages and disadvantages of Ukrainian language textbooks for primary school children are shown. Selection of methods and techniques of teaching language and speech that can be used by the primary school teacher.

Key words: state standard, content, methods, teaching, main features, program, textbook, standard, Ukrainian language, pupil, forms.

Savshak T. Implementation of the training and education of students Ukrainian schools in Galicia second half of the nineteenth century the first third of the twentieth century

The article observes the interconnection of teaching and educating during studying history in Ukrainian institutions of Galicia in the period from the mid- nineteenth century – to the first third of the twentieth century. The content, methods and forms of studying in the history of Ukrainian schools and normal schools.

Key words: ways, development, method, methodology, teaching, content, history, forms, means, gymnasium, Ukrainian, Galicia.

Shesterov I. Methods of study adverb a constant part of speech

This article discussed the methodology of teaching of adverbs at secondary/ high school level. Attention was paid to the issue of adoption of the material, both theoretical and practical, whilst possible errors and imperfections were taken into account. The research was complemented by particular tasks which, in our opinion, assist in the solution of the issue in question.

Keywords: adverbs, exercises for students, semantic communication, methodology.